MAY DIVIDE TAXES WITH DRY STATES TO ASSURE PASSAGE

Administration Considers The Proposition for Single Tax On Liquor

NOT ENTITLED TO IT

Is Claim Made By Some Who Are Opposed To The Measure

By William S. Neal
WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(INS)—Division of Federal liquor taxes with dry states appeared probable today as the administration exerted pressure to assure adoption of the single national tax plan for liquor.

Under this proposal a percentage of the liquor gallonage taxes collected by the Federal Government, probably 25 per cent, would be distributed to states if they agreed to levy no liquor taxes of their own.

While the plan of the President's interdepartmental committee would divide the state share on the basis of production and consumption of liquor alone, many wet leaders admitted Congress likely would overturn this proposal.

"If the plan of distributing part of the tax to states is adopted—and it appears that it will be, to avoid ruinous tax duplication—it will be impossible to get bill through unless the dry states get some money," said an administration advocate of the plan.

"They are not entitled to it, but as a practical matter the votes of Senators and representatives from those states must be considered."

A plan to divide the share of the states, which may exceed $50,000,000, on the basis of production, consumption and population was being framed by some members of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Dry states would benefit under the distribution according to population. In one case, that of Kentucky, the state would benefit because it allows production but does not allow sale of liquor in the state.

FARMER KILLED BY STUDENT

Cleveland, Ohio, Dec. 19.—A farmer returning home from a church meeting, who was mistaken for a "petting party band," was shot to death today by the nephew of a prominent congressman as the youth sought to prevent, what he considered, an attempt to drag his pretty co-ed companion from their parked automobile. Both the occupants, Britton Young, nephew of Congressman at large Stephen Young, and Miss Ruth Beiter, 21, Canton, Ohio, were students at the Western Reserve University here. The youth was said to be one of the most popular men on the Western Reserve campus.

The victim of the shooting, which occurred in a lonely section, was Carl Metling, 48, a farmer. His wife told police he had attended a Bible meeting last night and was apparently enroute home when he met death. Authorities expressed the belief that Metling had no intention of molesting the girl but that he had first approached the car out of curiosity and became angered when the youth met his questions with cool replies and refused to explain their presence there.

5000 MINERS TO CONTINUE STRIKE

Coaldale, Pa., Dec. 19.—Definitely breaking with the United Mine Workers of America, 5000 Panther Creek Valley miners had voted today to continue their strike for equalization of working time. At a mass meeting the miners spurned orders of union officials to return to work and resolved to summon a convention during the first week of January, when an attempt will be made to involve the entire anthracite region in the controversy.

Montevideo, Dec. 19.—Bringing a suspension of a year and a half of open warfare between Bolivia and Paraguay, in which tens of thousands have been killed, a truce in the Chaco war will go into effect at midnight tonight.

The truce will last until midnight of December 31st. Meanwhile representatives of the warring countries, delegates to the Pan-American Conference, and the League of Nations Peace Commission will unite in striving to effect a permanent peace within that time.

If they fail, hostilities presumably will be resumed with the beginning of the new year.

President Gabriel Terra, of Uruguay, chairman of the Pan-American Conference, was ready to ask a continuation of the parley, if necessary beyond the tentative closing date of December 24th.

The armistice was proposed by the Paraguayan delegation to the Pan-American Conference yesterday, and Bolivia's acceptance was received early this morning.

Man Dies of Injuries Received Trimming Tree

A man cutting a limb off a tree on a farm occupied by Wilbur Taylor, Bristol Township, near Emille, was so severely injured yesterday that he died.

The man, Joseph Polunio, 24, was employed as a farm hand by Taylor. Yesterday afternoon he was trimming a large limb from a tree. He had cut part-way through the limb and climbed up into the tree to cut the balance of the way through. When the limb fell it carried Polunio with it. It is believed the man suffered a fractured skull.

The injured man was treated by a physician at the Taylor farm.

He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Mary Catolito and Mrs. Elizabeth Meglin, both of Philadelphia.

PERCENTAGE OF REACTORS DECLINING EACH YEAR SINCE INAUGURATION OF CATTLE TESTING ON AN AREA BASIS IN BUCKS; IMPORTATION PROHIBITED

Cattle Must Be Tested Before Permitted to Enter the State

HELD AT STOCK YARDS

14 Townships Have Adopted Area Tests; Two Making Surveys

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 19.—Records filed in the office of County Agent William F. Greenawalt show that since the inauguration of cattle testing on an area basis in Bucks county in 1927 the percentage of reactors has been declining every year. This, it is said, is due to the fact that the State prohibits the importation of untested cattle into this State. In case untested cattle are imported from other states, they are held in the stock yards in this state for a 60-day test.

Mr. Greenawalt states that at present 14 townships in the county have adopted the area tests and two other townships are at present engaged in making surveys preliminary to introducing them. They are Lower Makefield and Tintinum.

The Bureau of Animal Industry at Harrisburg reports that at the present time approximately 85 per cent of the cattle owners in Bucks county have their cattle tested, either on the area basis or on the individual plan. This represents about 90 per cent of the cattle population in the county.

First of the townships in the county to adopt the area test were Wrightstown and Solebury. They adopted this plan in 1927. Records show that in the forepart of 1927, 379 head of cattle were tested in Wrightstown and of this number there were 132 reactors or 34 per cent. The following year it is shown by the records that the percentage of reactors had dropped to the very low level of 2.5, and in this spite of the fact that a larger number of cattle were subjected to the tests, there having been 440.

Two years later, when 482 head were tested the percentage of reactors dropped to another new low level, this having been 4. The following year 535 head of cattle were tested and at this time the percentage of reactors rose to 15.

Solebury township began area tests on May 1, 1927. That year 862 head of cattle were tested. The percentage of reactors was 40. The following year, when the second test was made, the percentage of reactors dropped to 5.88 and this in spite of the fact that 918 head of cattle were tested.

The third test was made in May, 1930, and at that time 857 head of cattle were tested and 1.5 per cent of this number were reactors. Nine hundred and fifty-two cattle were tested in 1931 and at that time the percentage of reactors was 1.7.

Buckingham township fell in line with this plan of testing in August, 1929, and at that time 1159 head of cattle were subjected to the tests. Like in Wrightstown and Solebury townships, the percentage of reactors was comparatively high, it having been 31. During the second test in 1930 1120 head of cattle were tested and the percentage of reactors was 5.3. The third test was made in 1931 and at that time 1320 cattle were tested. The percentage of reactors at that time was .6.

The fourth township to adopt the

LATEST NEWS

Received by International News Service Leased Wires.

TO CONTINUE RECOVERY PLANS
Washington, D. C., Dec. 19.—Straight ahead with the new deal into the new year. This was the administration's watchword today as year end conferences developed plans and specifications for continuing indefinitely the recovery machines now in operation. Congress will supply the necessary authority where it is found to be needed.

The R. F. C., giant parent of the alphabetical recovery institutions, is to be given a new lease on life with up to $1,000,000,000 in fresh money. The corporation is virtually broke having only funds enough to operate until Congress meets. It has loaned, or otherwise disposed of, of some $2,232,000,000 in its far-flung operations among banks, railroads, insurance companies, etc. The NRA still has 18 months to go in its statutory set-up but certain phases of it, such as the P. R. A.—President's Re-employment Agreement—will be continued beyond January 1st in order to keep in line those industries not yet brought under permanent codes.

The C. W. A. will be equipped with an additional $350,000,000 to continue operations beyond February 15th to insure carrying some 4,000,000 persons on the Federal works rolls through the winter. The P. W. A. under which more than $3,000,000,000 is being expended to Federal, State and municipal projects, is just getting into gear and by Spring is expected to have attained sufficient momentum to absorb many of those now being cared for by the C. W. A.

The President's gold buying policy, which has aroused probably more controversy than any other single act, is to be pushed steadily ahead, irrespective of criticism. Proof of this was furnished yesterday when the R. F. C. resumed the advance in the price, after a hiatus of more than two weeks.

Secret Service operatives found no trace of the assailant after an investigation.

The deceased is Thomas W. Garr, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Garr. The boy suffered a break in the leg, at the thigh, when a door fell upon him as he was playing about the barn at the Garr home. Taken to the Frankford Hospital he remained for seven weeks. After returning to his home he commenced attending school in September, and continued his studies there until Thursday last, when meningitis set in, and death occurred Sunday.

YOUNG WOMEN AND DADS WILL MAKE TOTS HAPPY

ARE GATHERING TOYS

Not only the 19 young women in Miss Mary Smoyer's Sunday School class are working with a will for the Christmas party at Bristol M. E. Church on Sunday, December 24th, but the said young women have put their fathers to work as well.

The "Dads" form the repair and painting crew, and are in their spare time refurbishing toys that local people are generously donating for the annual party which this class gives for unfortunate youngsters of Bristol. Not only the backers but the visitors as well, claim that the party at that edifice each Christmas-tide is "a sight to behold." "You should see those young tots when they receive their cartons of gifts," remarked the teacher today. "They surely appreciate them."

Throughout the year the Sunday School class members work, earning and saving money to buy toys, candy and oranges. They solicit used toys from their friends and from the public in general, and where necessary repairs are made and paint applied. Then for a few weeks before the Yuletide the girls are busy making out their lists, those children who will attend. A carton is provided for each tot, and in this is placed the toys, a candy toy and an orange. The workers are "past-masters" at the task, and everything is conducted in a business-like manner. The cartons are arranged on the platform in the Sunday School room in alphabetical order, and the names called. And then with great glee the boy or girl hurries to the front to claim his or her gifts.

The party this year will be held on Sunday afternoon, December 24th, at three o'clock. And the girls not only invite the public but urge them to witness the affair. All who attend claim it is a joyous occasion, and well-worth witnessing.

Nearly 250 children were thus made happy last season, and many more are expected to be cared for this year.

Children in the borough, hearing of the parties and of requests for toys, are also most generous in donating some of their own used toys. One little girl of six, without solicitation, a few days ago offered the kiddy-car she had outgrown. The class members have a committee which is busily dressing dolls. In fact the class has appointed several committees and the work is carried out with expediency.

Some funds have been raised at bake sales, festivals, etc.; and each week at the Sabbath School session the class members donate a few pennies. This fund is used for purchase of new toys, candy and oranges. Shoes and stockings are also purchased for those in need of such.

The party this year, as usual, will commence with the singing of a Christmas carol, and prayer will be offered. Then the scores of tots, up to 12 years of age, will make their way home, laden with gifts.

REELECTED PRESIDENT

At the annual meeting of Italian Beneficial Lodge, Friday evening, James Ferrelli was reelected president for the third consecutive term. Mr. Ferrelli, who lives in Burlington, was formerly a Bristol resident.

Chicago, Dec. 19.—His amorous proposal rejected, Fred Bellinger early today shot and killed Mrs. Irene Hard, 26, wife of his "best friend," and then committed suicide after fleeing from the suburban tavern where the young woman was found murdered.

The double shooting occurred after an all night tour the pair had made of roadhouses and suburban bars.

Police squads sent out in search of Bellinger after Mrs. Hard was found slain came upon his dead body. Clenched in Bellinger's hand was the pistol with which he had killed his woman companion as she sat on the bar in a tavern in suburban Lyons.

MAY TALK THINGS OVER

New hope of finding a way out of the armaments deadlock has been given by reports that France is willing to enter into direct negotiations with Hitler.

The hope may not be strong but it exists nevertheless.

If Germany and France could be persuaded to sit down together and discuss the armaments question frankly and fully this would constitute real progress toward finding a solution of the perplexing problem.

Recent dispatches indicate a more conciliatory attitude in both Berlin and Paris. This change apparently is due to the efforts of Mussolini, to whom had been entrusted the task of finding a solution of the problem caused by Germany's quitting the disarmament conference and the League of Nations. The Italian premier holds the confidence and respect of Hitler, and, while his standing in French official quarters may not be quite so high, Paris apparently prefers talking over matters directly with Germany to refusing to do this and thus placing itself in an obstructive position in the eyes of the rest of the world.

Further developments in connection with the reported plans will be followed with world-wide interest. In view of what already has occurred in disarmament discussions, it seems almost impossible that any agreement could be reached. Should France and Germany actually engage in direct talks concerning the questions that have all but wrecked the disarmament conference, however, it would mark encouraging progress.

LAW AND COMMON SENSE

A refreshing example of a court's refusing to permit trifling technicalities to save criminals from paying for their crimes has been given in Chicago. It constitutes another feather in the cap of this city in the latter's efforts to rid itself of the unsavory reputation it has held for several years as being one of the country's most lawless cities.

A gangster had been acquitted on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon on his person. The weapon was not on his person in the sense of being concealed in his clothing. It was in a golf bag swung over his shoulder. The defendant's attorney maintained, and successfully before the lower court, that technically the weapon was not on his person.

An appellate court reversed the finding, holding that the presence of the concealed weapon within reach of the defendant brought the offense within the meaning of the statutes against carrying concealed weapons.

This was a common sense interpretation of the law of the kind needed if headway is to be made in America's war on crime. When courts generally adopt this attitude a surprising improvement in crime conditions may be expected to follow.

Still, the people of Italy may be saying: "After Roosevelt, what?"

So far we have not heard of the government's planning to pay members of the younger generation for the wild oats they do not sow.

The Crusaders, who first took up the fight for repeal, then moved against the gangsters and now are in the fight against inflation, remind us of the man who suddenly started off in all directions.

STATE NEWS

TYRONE—(INS)—A 23-point buck, weighing 210 pounds dressed, was bagged in the mountain region along Tyrone, by F. E. Piper, of near here. The buck was described as one of the largest and finest specimens of deer ever killed in this vicinity.

BLOOMSBURG—(INS)—The C. C. C. camp at Elk Grove, near here, was placed under quarantine after four of its members were stricken ill with diphtheria. Each man has received immunization treatment.

WILLIAMSPORT—(INS)—A baby boy found on the doorstep of a home at Hughesville, near here, bears a name derived from the names of two state highway patrolmen who brought him to the local hospital.

Nurses at the hospital took Derrick from the name of Patrolman W. J. Broderick and Sergeant from the name of Sergeant A. F. Dahlstrom, combined the two and named the baby "Derrick Sergeant."

Meanwhile, the two foster fathers are trying to discover how and why little Derrick happened to be on the Hughesville doorstep.

PHILADELPHIA—(INS)—The peril of war in Europe has passed, in the opinion of Frederick J. Libby, secretary of the National Council for the Prevention of War.

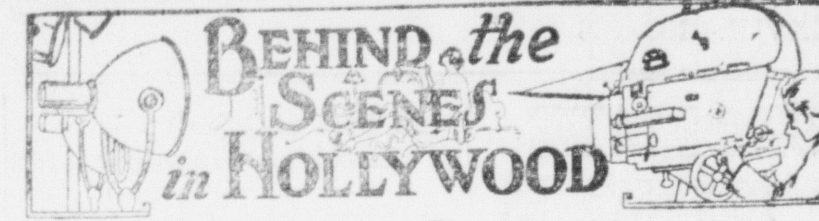

The danger of war between Russia and Japan was eliminated by American recognition of the Soviets, Libby declared. He added:

"Wars are made inevitable by policies, not by armaments or international suspicions. At present the policies of the countries upon which war in Europe depends are turned toward peace."

WILKES-BARRE—(INS)—A flip of a coin decided the ownership of a buck deer shot by two Moccasin hunters.

The luckless buck was first struck by Marvin Bridle but kept running and 100 yards further on dropped with a shot from the gun of Joseph Capece.

Companions of the two men held a short consultation and it was decided to toss a coin. Capece won.

HOLLYWOOD—If there were any lingering doubts that all is well between Irene Dunne and her doctor husband, the two dispel it with their plans for romantic trysts on Christmas and New Year's Eves.

When Dr. Francis Griffen came out here to personally negotiate Irene's new contract with RKO, the understanding was for him to return for the holidays. But now he cannot leave his practice. And as Irene starts a new picture, "Transient Love," she can't go to New York.

The two impetuously solve their difficulty by plans to meet in Chicago. Irene will board a plane here on the evening of the 23rd. Her husband flies from New York the same night and they meet in Chicago, spend Christmas Eve together and fly back to their duties.

The same routine will be followed for New Year's Eve, the actress said yesterday.

Now, all they hope for is decent weather.

Where is Willie Fritsch, handsome German leading man, who swore he'd be in Hollywood by Christmas to put a ring on Lillian Harvey's finger?

Asked yesterday, Lillian said she didn't know. All her letters and cables for several weeks have remained unanswered.

Hot report has it that Fritsch is on the high seas. If not, he'll have to wait a long time to see the blonde star who has been rumored both as his fiancée and as his wife. Lillian has completed "I Am Suzanne" for Fox, but it will be three months before she returns to Europe.

The strange paradox of Jean Harlow arguing bitterly with MGM over salary while husband Hal Rosson worked amicably for the company appears to be at an end.

The platinum-haired star showed up on the lot yesterday for the first time in many weeks. Gossip says the feud is over, that Jean comes back at a salary increase. And if plans have not changed she will work with Marie Dressler in "Living in a Big Way."

They must like Evelyn Venable at Paramount, for the studio is leaving no stone unturned to placate her professor father, who laid down the ultimatum of no kissing scenes for his one and only.

First they toned down all love scenes in "Death Takes a Holiday" and now the studio is rushing through a print of the picture, so that the young actress can take it back to show to her father when she leaves here to spend the holidays in Cincinnati.

QUICK GLIMPSES:

That very busy swain, Dick Powell, has switched back to Mary Brian again, or, at least, the two were together Wednesday night at the Beverly Wilshire. . . . Francesca Braggiotti, dancer after the classic manner and wife of actor-socialite John Lodge, is opening a dancing school in Hollywood. . . . When Ethel Merman got off the train here, she was greeted by the same man who had told her good-bye in New York. He was, of course, Roger Edens. . . . The living example of the fellow who would give you his shirt is reported by Tony Samanin, brother of Ramon Novarro who has just returned from Mexico with the "Viva Villa" Company. When Tony left the southern capital, a number of officers from the 10th Mexican Cavalry came down to see him off. They had ordered a present for him: when it didn't come, a captain tore off his shirt and offered it as a souvenir.

Still very much the honeymooners, Adrienne Ames and Bruce Cabot sat with arms entwined at the Borzage cocktail party. . . . Maureen O'Sullivan took a few steps yesterday for the first time since her operation. . . . Lionel Barrymore is another who looks much improved. He and Mrs. Barrymore plan a vacation after he completes "It Happened One Day." . . . And punchers at the Paramount commissary are that amused over the item: "One Pound Caviar, $11."

DID YOU KNOW—
That Maureen O'Sullivan, living in Dublin during the Black and Tan riots, saw the walls and roof of her home riddled by shell-fire?

THOUGHTS and THINGS

THE business of living, when boiled down and all the froth skimmed off, is just a matter of thinking.

Each of us is continually thinking ideas of our own and swapping them for the ideas of others. If there is a famine of outside ideas we shrivel up ourselves. Children with "nobody to play with" are unhappy and unmanageable.

From thinking with our heads to doing with our hands is but a little step and then our thoughts become things.

It is because men of America are so unfettered in their thinking and doing that this country is such a fine place to live in. It is also because these thoughts are freely radiated and spread broadcast, in the distribution of manufactured things and in the distribution of the facts about them (advertising), that this country is such a fine place to live in.

The originator of an idea is not much better off than before he originated it till he gets some one else to absorb it and enjoy it and benefit by it.

The man or woman surrounded by better thoughts and things but who pays not the slightest attention to them is not much better off than the one with "nobody to play with."

The advertisements in the papers are thoughts—telling you about the things that other men and women have created for your happiness. Read the ads. They are the voices from hundreds of thousands of looms, shops, foundries, studios, laboratories, where millions of minds are turning pleasant thoughts into worth-while things for your comfort.

ROAST CHICKEN SUGGESTED FOR DINNER ON CHRISTMAS DAY

Fruit cocktail, roast chicken and chestnut dressing, mashed potatoes, giblet gravy, creamed onions, spiced peaches, rolls, plum jelly, tomato gelatin salads, salad dressing, steamed date pudding and lemon sauce, coffee, salted nuts and hard candies, is a tempting menu to serve for dinner on Christmas Day.

The recipes for the fruit cocktail, chicken, dressing and lemon sauce for the pudding follow:

Fruit Cocktail, Serving 6

1 cup diced pineapple.
1 cup diced canned peaches.
1 cup diced pears.
1/2 cup diced grapefruit.
1/2 cup sugar.
2 tablespoons lemon juice.
1 cup fruit juices or water.
Mix sugar and fruit juices. Boil 1 minute. Cool and add rest of ingredients. Chill and serve in glass cups.
If desired, 1-3 cup of grape juice can be added to this fruit mixture.

Roast Chicken

1 chicken (5-6 pounds).
1 teaspoon salt.
1/2 teaspoon celery salt.
1/2 teaspoon paprika.
2 tablespoons flour.
1 cup boiling water.
2 tablespoons butter.
Carefully wash and clean chicken. Chill until ready to roast. Stuff and tie the chicken ready for baking. Sprinkle with the salt, celery salt, paprika and flour. Fit into a roaster. Mix butter and water. Pour half of this over the chicken and piece in a hot oven. Bake 15 minutes. Cover with lid and lower the fire. Bake 2 hours. Baste frequently, using rest of water and butter mixture. Turn the chicken to allow even browning.

Chestnut Dressing

(A popular dressing for fowls.)
1/2 pound chestnuts.
Boiling water to cover.
4 cups soft bread crumbs.
1/2 teaspoon salt.
1/2 teaspoon celery salt.
1/2 teaspoon paprika.
2 tablespoons chopped parsley.
1-3 cup butter, melted.
2 tablespoons hot cream.
Cover the chestnuts with water and soak slowly until skins are soft. Remove the nuts and remove the shells. Mash the nuts and add to the rest of the ingredients which have been mixed lightly with a fork. Stuff the fowl.

Percentage of Reactors Declining Each Year

plan was Upper Merfeld in 1930. During that year 292 head of cattle were tested and 13.4 per cent of them were reactors. During the second test the following year 355 head were tested and 3.1 were reactors. During the first two years the tests in this township were not complete, due to the refusal on the part of a number of dairymen to have their cattle tested. However, in 1932, a complete test of 75 head in the township was made and as a result the percentage of reactors was increased to 13, there having been 584 head tested.

Warwick township was the fifth in the county to adopt this system of testing cattle and this was in 1931, when 174 head were tested. Of this number it was found that 34 per cent. of them failed to qualify. However, the following year when the second test was made the 7 per cent of the 193 head of cattle tested failed to pass.

Falling in line with these five townships in 1931 was Durham township and when the first test of 508 head of cattle was made 37.6 per cent were reactors. Last year 410 head were tested and of this number 19 or 2.4 were reactors.

Seventh in line was Springfield township, and the first test in this district was made in March, 1932. At that time 1401 head were tested and the percentage of reactors was 36. Nockamixon adopted the area tests the same month of that year, when 659 head were tested and 47.7 per cent of them were reactors.

Haycock township followed in January, 1933, and at that time 363 head were tested with a percentage of reactors of 45. Bedford township adopted the plan at the same time and when the first test in that township was made the percentage of reactors was 38, there having been 1305 head of cattle subjected to the test.

New Britain township, adopted the area plan in February, 1933, when 366 head of cattle were tested. The percentage of reactors in this township at that time was 13.4.

It was in October that Richland township dairymen agreed to this plan of testing and at that time 488 head of cattle were tested. The percentage of reactors here was 7.

Hilltown and Doylestown townships were last of the 14 townships in the New county to adopt this plan, they having had their first tests in November. In Hilltown township 533 head of cattle were subjected to the tests and 12.5 per cent of them were reactors. Doylestown township had 435 head tested and the percentage of reactors in this district was 4.8.

According to the latest information received by Mr. Greenwalt, the following townships will receive their annual tests about February 1, 1934. Wrightstown, Solebury, Buckingham, Warwick, Haycock, Bedminster, New Britain, Springfield and Nockamixon.

HOLLYWOOD.—So far as is known, singer Jeanette MacDonald and crooner Rudy Vallee have nothing against each other, but their two muffs staged the film "colony's wildest dog-fight" — and right in the lobby of the fashionable Beverly Wilshire Hotel. It all happened when Jeanette, on her way to MGM to talk about "The Merry Widow," met Rudy entering the hotel.

Their two purps — Jeanette's English sheep dog, "Captain," and Rudy's half-chow-half-St. Bernard, "Windy" — took one look at each other.

It was a case of spontaneous combustion. For 10 minutes the battle raged. Clerks ran from behind the desk, the late breakfast crowd dashed from the dining room. Finally, a group of bell-boys moved in on the combatants and pulled them apart. The net result was that Jeanette's "Captain" had to be taken to the dog-hospital for repairs.

"It really was a draw," she said, "but I doubt if the management of the hotel will ask a rematch."

Bill Haines is redecorating Constance Bennett's bungalow at 20th Century into a nest of pink, orchid, purple and white.

In a simpler bungalow down the way, Constance Cummings couldn't find a bottle opener. She sent her aide over to borrow one.

"But hurry," she urged, "before Bill Haines gets a chance to put a ruffled skirt on it."

If Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., really wants to fool anybody about Gertrude Lawrence, he ought to cultivate a poker face when he reads those cablegrams which are delivered, at least once and sometimes twice a day, to the "Success Story" set at RKO.

Also that proud look when he looks at the gold cigarette lighter with the initials "G. L."

Thanks for all those letters suggesting a new name for Ginger Rogers — although I meant for you to write the star herself at RKO. After a process of elimination, Ginger is now considering three names: Rochelle, Lela and Virginia.

Lela is her mother's name and Ginger rather favors it. But her mother insists on Virginia, which is Ginger's own name.

However, the final choice may be something else entirely, so if you have any good ideas write them.

No woman is more particular than George Raft about the color scheme of costumes. Unable to find the right shade of hat the other day, George sent a sample of a blue-gray suit and asked a prominent hat company to match it.

They've just written back thanking him for suggesting a new shade.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By ANN PAGE

MERRY CHRISTMAS! May you have a generous share of the good things of the world at this season and the companionship of those you love.

The markets are stocked with everything edible that either Santa Claus or the family marketer could wish, turkeys at low prices, ducks, geese and roasting chickens for poultry lovers, fresh and smoked hams for those who prefer them and beef, lamb or veal for Sunday's dinner.

The citrus fruits are plentiful, cheap and of fine quality and so are apples. There are California grapes for table centerpieces and cranberries for sauce or cocktail.

Fine celery is plentiful and you will want olives to serve with it. Lettuce is cheap and with Russian or plain salad dressing, it is the ideal dinner salad. You also may have almost any green vegetable that suits your fancy at a moderate price.

The Quaker Maid suggests two Sunday dinner menus and a Christmas dinner menu as well.

And there is another size of can. Watch this one. It looks so much like No. 2 that your eye can hardly tell the difference when they are side by side. This can is a trifle shorter (an eighth of an inch) and a little less in diameter (a quarter of an inch). But it holds 2 or 4 ounces less than No. 2, is often advertised at the same price, and may actually sell for more if you are not on guard. This can is known to the trade as No. 303. It is labeled correctly—16 ounces net weight, or about the same as a No. 1 tall can. But you may take No. 303 for No. 2 unless you read the label.

If you buy three No. 2 cans of tomatoes for 20 cents you pay 5.6 cents per pound. But if they turn out to be No. 303 cans, at the same price for three, you pay 6.6 cents per pound, and you have 9 ounces less for your 20 cents than you get in three No. 2 cans. If you were buying corn, which is heavier than tomatoes, you would get 12 ounces less for your 20 cents.

Always read the label on canned or packaged goods and watch the price, Miss Armstrong reminds.

COATS THIS SEASON ARE PLAIN AND ARE WRAPPING WELL OVER

(I. N. S. Fashion Correspondent)
PARIS—(INS)—Coats this season follow pretty much the old lines of being plain, slim and wrapping well over. But what gives the coats this winter an entirely different aspect are the uses to which fur is put. Each of the leading houses has its pet way of ornamenting the garment, making it original in effect and also warm.

Princess Viora has a Lelong suit of black woolen material with sleeve pockets and a plastron in front of black astrakhan fur.

Schiaparelli ties her fur in streamers on many coats, such as one model in rough wool that has a band collar, small bow and streamers almost to the hem in civet cat fur. Still, I saw the halves. Roll in crumbs which have young Maharajah Hecker, of Indore, been mixed with butter. Sprinkle daughter-in-law of the former Nancy with remaining ingredients. Arrange Miller, in a Schiaparelli coat of beel in shallow pan and broil 15 minutes, blacksheep twice lined in brilliant red 6 inches below glowing flame, and no fer.

London Aghast at Threats to King George by 'Nephew'

In Royal "Dirty Linen" Case

London court and society circles are considerably stirred by the case of Clarence Guy Gordon-Haddon, 43-year-old engineer, who was recently arrested and held without bail charged with "demanding money from King George with menaces and without probable cause." Gordon-Haddon claims he is a nephew of the king, asserting he is the illegitimate son of the Duke of Clarence, elder brother of King George, who died in 1892. Had the Duke lived he would have occupied the throne. In his letters to the king, Gordon-Haddon, who served with distinction in the World War, is said to have threatened that he would wash the dirty linen of the royal family in public if he were not given enough money to open a boarding house.

LONDON, (I.N.S.)—While maintaining an attitude of shocked horror at what is considered gross disrespect to the royal family, court and society circles here are eagerly awaiting the outcome of Clarence Guy Gordon-Haddon's threat to "wash the dirty linen of English royalty in public," if steps are not taken to put him above washing his own linen in a Bloomsbury back room.

Claims Kinship

Gordon-Haddon was held without bail after he had admitted writing letters to King George demanding enough money to start a modern boarding house. The charge on which he was arraigned was that of "demanding money from the King with menaces and without probable cause."

At the preliminary hearing, the prosecution alleged that Gordon-Haddon was planning a poster parade through London in an attempt to arouse public sympathy for his claim that he is the illegitimate son of the late Duke of Clarence and as such is entitled to some monetary consideration from the royal family. The Duke of Clarence, who died in 1892, was the elder brother of King George V. Had he lived, he would have succeeded Edward VII to the throne of England.

Although Gordon-Haddon often has asserted that he is in possession of documentary proof of his birth, so far he has failed to make such proof available to proper authorities.

One of the letters offered in evidence against the man is a copy of a document said to have been sent to the President of the United States in which he said: "I am compelled to go from park to park and from hall to hall and try to compel the royal family to take some action for justice to be done me according to my birthright. I am left on the streets of the empire without a name or any means of support."

It is also charged that Gordon-Haddon threatened to tell his story to the League of Nations. What action he expected the League to take was not disclosed.

War Veteran

The man who claims to be an outcrop of the British royal family tree is a consulting engineer by profession. Forty-three years old, he served with distinction in the British Army during the World War, winning several decorations for gallantry.

According to his story, the war wrecked his promising career and the depression came in time to prevent his starting all over again, so, he says, there is nothing left for him to do but to seek a small part of the royal wealth he believes is his right.

Apparently Gordon-Haddon's greatest bitterness is inspired by the popularity of the Prince of Wales. For an excerpt from one of the letters written to King George refers to a dinner attended by the Prince some time ago in which Gordon-Haddon points out that while Wales is living on "the fat of the land I am forced to wash my dirty linen and that of the royal family in public for a living."

Claim Disregarded

Although there are old English statutes in existence which would make such an offense as that alleged against Gordon-Haddon punishable by death or life imprisonment, indications are that they will not be invoked in the case.

Apparently the prosecution contents itself with making the charge one of simple attempted extortion with threats, just as if the demands were made of a private person instead of against the ruler of the realm.

The accused man's claim to royal descent is totally disregarded as the authorities pooch-pooch the matter as irrelevant to the charge and utterly without foundation.

PITTSBURGH—(INS)—Fortune Gallo, founder of the San Carlos Grand Opera Company, had made almost a habit of inducing people to hear the music for the first time.

And one of his favorite stories is the tale of how 20 years ago, his opera company was playing a small Ohio city for a week's engagement and he went in to see the editor of the newspaper.

"I told him 'I'm going to leave two good seats for you for tonight's performance,'" Gallo recalls. Apparently the editor didn't enjoy operas, because Gallo says he answered:

"Don't bother. I wouldn't go." The operatic director, however, finally induced him to take a chance.

"He came to me the next day," Gallo said, "and admitted that grand opera isn't so bad when you know how it fits together and what it's all about. The best part about it was that he came back every night that week."

However, when he finishes the story, Gallo always reminds his listener that the name of the town was Marion, and that country editor was Warren G. Harding, the late President.

HIBERNIANS MARK UP FIFTH STRAIGHT WIN

(By T. M. Juno)

Continuing their winning streak, the Hibernians still set the pace of the Bristol Basketball League, marking up their fifth straight win last night on the Italian Mutual Aid floor. The Odd Fellows were the victims, with the final count reading: Hibernians, 46; Odd Fellows, 31.

The Big Green until the final quarter did not look like the team that chalked up four straight wins earlier in the season. During the first three periods, the Odd Fellows outplayed the boys from Corson street, who kept a three-point lead throughout.

In the final ten minutes of playing, the Dolanmen went to work and sunk in 21 points, almost more than they scored the first three quarters combined. This 21 point put the Greens in front enough to ease up in the last five minutes of play.

At the opening of the third period, "Shorty" Reimer had put the Odd Fellows one point behind the league leaders by ringing the net with a long shot. This made the score card read 25-24, but it was the signal for the Hibs to get working, and away they went. "Joie" Roe and "Joie" Sascavitz began to score field goals with great rapidity, and the Black and White team was lost.

Although beaten, the Odd Fellows showed one of the most outstanding players in the league, in the person of "Shorty" Reimer, former star of Franklin and Marshall College. Reimer, besides his usual defensive work, scored 19 points—7 field goals and 5 fouls. The diminutive forward of the losing quintet kept breaking up the Big Green's plays and was the leader of the Odd Fellows' passing system which kept them in the game three quarters of the way.

Again "Joie" Roe led the attack of the A. O. H. team. Joie last night scored 17 points. Although in justice to the other players it must be said that Joe was the receiver of many passes. "Joie" Sascavitz and "Gige" Dougherty were close behind Roe with 10 and 11 points, respectively.

FIVE VETERANS TO BE ON BRISTOL HIGH SEXTET

(By Oscar Corn)

This year the Bristol High sextet will be formed around a nucleus of five veterans, all of which received letters last year. They are: Margie Nills, stellar forward; Phyllis Kallenbach, star center and forward; G. Ensig, center; Evelyn Buck, guard; and Peg Morrell, side-center.

When the call for candidates was issued, fifty girls reported. Among these there was much good material. This is the first indication of a successful season, and a good team.

The Bristol High sextet has a good schedule of fourteen games, prepared by Managers Ludwig, Snyder, and Cohen. There are five new teams listed; namely, Mt. Holly, Upper Moreland, Bordentown, Abington, and Olney High.

The schedule:

Jan. 3—Mt. Holly, home.
Jan. 5—Alumni, home.
Jan. 9—Upper Moreland, away.
Jan. 12—Southampton, home.
Jan. 16—Bordentown, home.

HAWKS ELIMINATE Y. M. A. FROM RACE

The Hawks eliminated the Y. M. A. from the first half championship of the Bristol League by defeating the 1932 champions by the score of 40-23 in the wind-up game.

The 1932 champions could not cope with the winning combination and once the boys of Harry Jenks got going the Y's could not wrest the lead. Throughout the game the Hawks held a ten or more point lead which only was threatened in the third quarter when "Toby" Lawrence sunk in two field goals to bring the Y's six points away from the Hawks' lead.

Things became closer when Pegley made good on a foul throw, but Frey, Cole and Dugan came across with double-deckers to again give the Hawks' aggregation a comfortable lead.

Every player on the winning five scored at least one point, with "Johnny" Cole leading the counters with 15 points. Cole was credited with six field goals made from difficult angles of the court. Three of his goals were made while the player was off his feet. "Ed" Dugan gave Cole a close race with twelve points, besides holding his man, Pegley, scoreless from the field.

"Toby" Lawrence, with four field goals and three fouls, was the losers' best. The usual high scoring forwards, Bailey and Morgan, were held to one field goal each by Kendig and Cole, respectively.

The defeat to the Y's leaves them but a mathematical chance to win the first half as the Hibernians are undefeated and have but two games to play, while the Hawks and Y. M. A. have both lost two frays.

On Thursday night, the Knights of Columbus will meet the Paterson Parchment Paper Company, and the St. Ann's team plays the Third Ward A. C.

SPORT SHOTS by Maxwell Gordon

SO much interest has been shown by the old time sports fans of Bristol in the articles appearing in this column featuring the baseball games of long ago, that we have been swamped with requests to continue relating stories on the games played by the old Bristol team of 1890.

Doran Green, well known historian, very kindly came to our aid with some rare old copies of the "Every Evening," a paper published by the late William Watson in 1890... in which were articles on games played by that wonderful diamond aggregation.

In a game played between Lambertville and Bristol on August 13th of that year in Buntown, as the Jersey town was called, Bristol defeated the upper Delaware lads in a rather one-sided affair.

But the bad feeling that developed between the players because one of the directors of Lambertville, a Dr. Kerr, refused to give the baseball to the winning team as was the custom at the time, lasted for a long time afterwards.

The game was played in a field that resembled almost an isthmus, almost surrounded by water... a canal ran along the side of left field and a creek through center field which the fielder had to jump to catch a fly, and to make matters worse a barbed wire fence ran diagonally across the out-field causing no end of trouble.

With all that, the Bristol lads trimmed the Jersey team rather easily, Harry Hoeding walloping a home run with two men on base, and John Coleman struck out seven batters. Below is the box score of the game which should prove interesting.

PINCHOT'S ABSENCE DISRUPTS PLANS

Harrisburg, Dec. 19.—Absence of Gov. Gifford Pinchot, confined to a New York hospital with a nervous ailment, today disrupted his forces working for discharge of the Senate executive nominations committee from further consideration of five appointees to the Public Service Commission.

Plans to discharge the committee were abandoned, at least temporarily, last night, after the telephone wires buzzed between the chief executive's office and the New York hospital. Administration forces in the upper chamber were to confer today on a course for future action.

Because of the Governor's attempt to force his hand on the commission appointments, the Republican organization has cast aside previous plans and now is determined to keep all names in committee unless the administration can obtain release by the discharge procedure.

The Governor is primarily interested in the confirmation of his former secretary, P. S. Stahlnecker. Northeastern senators are pressing for approval of Herman J. Goldberg, Wilkes-Barre, Philadelphia senators, previously aligned with the administration discharge move, are now reported to have switched to the organization ranks unless Goldberg is sidetracked.

in favor of Frederick P. Gruenberg. The remaining two appointees are C. Jay Goodenough, chairman, and George W. Woodruff.

London, Dec. 19.—The International gold price was left unchanged today at 126 shillings, nine-pence per ounce, with a premium of six-pence over the French rate.

This was equal to about $32.58 in American currency at today's opening exchange rate of $5.15 and amounted to a slight gain over yesterday, when the price was about $32.52 at the opening rate of $5.14.

The sale of 270 gold bars, valued at $650,000, was announced at the new rate.

The Babe Looks Ahead

By BURNLEY

HE IS JUST ABOUT THROUGH AS A REGULAR PLAYER--WHAT DOES THE FUTURE HOLD FOR BASEBALL'S GREATEST FIGURE?

G. HERMAN RUTH, MASTER MIND--HOW'S THAT?

RUTH WOULD MAKE AN IDEAL MANAGER---

WHAT does the coming year hold in store for the illustrious George Herman Ruth? The great Bambino has become something of a problem to the Yankee management.

Last season proved that Babe has just about reached the end of his playing days as a regular. He simply cannot hold up an outfield position for a full season at his advanced age. Yet it is a cinch that the Great Man will never take a big salary cut, even though his value as a player has decreased to an alarming extent.

Ruth maintains, and rightly so, that as the greatest drawing card in baseball's history, he is entitled to some baseball position which will pay him a salary in keeping with his reputation.

Of course, there is only one such position—a managerial job. And there's the rub. Joe McCarthy's contract as Yankee manager has not yet expired, and Col. Ruppert, the Yanks' owner, has shown no dissatisfaction with Joe's work as pilot.

Since the post of Yankee manager, which would seem to be a "natural" for the Babe, is not open at present, the problem presents itself—what to do with Ruth?

The Bambino himself has expressed the desire to try his hand at a managerial job, and there were rumors that Ruth would be sold either to the Red Sox or to the White Sox to take over the managerial reins. However, these rumors were killed off when Eddie Collins engaged Bucky Harris as the Red Sox manager and Lew Fonseca was reappointed pilot of the Chicks.

It was even whispered that Ruppert would offer Babe the post of manager of the Newark Bears, the Colonel's leading minor league team, preparatory to giving the Great Man the leadership of the Yankee team. However, it doesn't seem possible that Ruth would consent to pilot a minor league team even for a season. And even if he was willing, it would be impossible to get waivers on him from the other American League magnates.
